RV University, a Fun New Way to Learn about RV's

Fayetteville, NC – July 06, 2005 -- RV Education 101 launched a new sister site to help in the promotion of educating RVers. Mark Polk stated "RV Education 101's goal is simple, assisting and educating the RV consumer on how to use and maintain their RV." He goes on to say "It is our thoughts that a satisfied and educated RV owner will stay actively involved in the RV lifestyle and that all of their RV experiences should be safe and fun rather than unpleasant and stressful."

RV University.com was started because learning is not always fun. Mark and Dawn Polk wanted to make the process of education more accessible and lighthearted with an online education center giving access to instant RV information. "At the U of RV we offer you the opportunity to learn a few things that you may not already know, through our "Just for Fun" RV Education 101 RV degree program. If you successfully complete our "Just for Fun" program you will receive your authentic looking "Certificate of Completion" to proudly display in your RV" said Dawn Polk.

To start, one of the program requirements consists of going to the RV University site and reading 25 free articles that Polk has written. Polk states the problem is RVers are exposed to a whole new concept of mobile living. With the basic operations and safety aspects of an RV, consumers often find themselves with their head in a whirl trying to take in the vast amount of information involving everything from appliances, campground set-up, holding tanks, slide-outs and the general maintenance and safe operation of the RV itself. RV University is like a refresher course.

You are invited to come enroll in the U of RV today and expand your RV knowledge for tomorrow. Oh, was it mentioned that there is a final exam too!"
